[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO MAY 11.

THE CIVIL WAR IN FRANCE.

Dispatches via London.

LONDON, May 10.—Bismarck consents to reduce the indemnity twenty millions. McMahon says he will not enter Paris before the end of next week.

Paris dispatches state that the slaughter of Communists since Sunday is fearful, and that Rossel's resignation has destroyed the last hope of success of the Commune.

Fort Vanvres Silenced.

VERSAILLES, May 10—Evening.—The fire at Fort Vanvres ceased at 6 p. m. It is believed that the fort is evacuated.

Germans to Retire from Paris Fortifications.

FRANKFORT, May 10.—It is believed that Paris fortifications occupied by the Prussians will be delivered to the Versaillists even before payment of first instalment of the war [illegible].

Durable Peace between Germany and France.

BERLIN, May 10.—A dispatch from Frankfort to the provincial correspondence says that the negotiations completed to-day will result in effecting a real and durable peace, and not merely in removing temporary difficulties.

Desperation of the Commune.

PARIS, May 10.—The Commune has decided to meet three days in each week, except in cases of emergency, when sittings will be held permanently. It is announced that Rossel presented his resignation and appealed to the Commune to forego all amnesty. The meeting was characterized by recriminations between members of the Central Committee and those of Public Safety.

The tricolor is floating from the corner of Issy. The fort is apparently occupied by Versaillists. The Commune announces that it is unoccupied and untenable.

Vanvres is still burning.

The sub-committee of organization in a proclamation issued to-day orders the most relentless measures towards the besiegers. The troops are forbidden to cease firing upon the Versaillists, who may attempt to surrender, while fugitives and stragglers are to be sabred when caught, or if they are numerous, bodies are to be fired into by cannon and mitrailleuses.

PARIS, May 10.—A secret sitting of the Commune on Tuesday decided to insist on the resignation of the Committee on Public Safety and the appointment of successors immediately.

WASHINGTON CITY.

General News.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—This morning the President signed the treaty of friendship and commerce just negotiated between the United States and San Salvador.

The reading of the treaty with England created a good impression, and indications are that it will be ratified. A majority of the Senate are in favor of removing the injunctions of secrecy, so that the treaty may now be made public, and this would have been the result had the question been pressed to a vote this afternoon. It may come up in session on Friday, to which time the Senate has adjourned.

The Territorial Legislature for Columbia meets for the first time next Monday.

The Senate went into Executive session a few minutes after one o'clock to-day. The first thing done was reading of the treaty, which occupied about an hour.

Cameron made a brief statement that the effect of the treaty was honorable to both countries, and negotiated in the interests of peace. He hoped, therefore, it would receive the approval of the Senators, and suggests that it be given to the Press of the country. To this several Senators interposed objections, as they could see no reasons for departing from the uniform practices of the Senate.

Sumner is reported as saying he did not approve of some portions of the treaty, and thought they ought to be amended. He like Cameron said the public should be furnished with a full text of the treaty, in order that they might fully understand its provisions in advance of a full passage by the Senate. He was of the opinion that the claims of British subjects should not have been incorporated in the treaty, as they grew out of things done on the part of Great Britain itself during the last war that would not have been admitted if decided opposition had been expressed by our own Commissioners. The simple and better plan would have been to make out a fair bill for the Alabama and kindred depredations, but he would not now add its payment in the way of exemplary or vindictive damages. Other matters might afterwards be adjusted. He did not, however, indicate whether he would vote for or oppose the treaty, as he had not yet had time to examine all its features, some of which were of an important national character.

The question of removing the injunction of secrecy so as to enable the Press to publish a full text was not brought to a vote. The treaty was referred to Committee on Foreign Relations.

EASTERN STATES.

The Connecticut Election Investigation.

HARTFORD, May 10.—The House by a vote of 134 to 109 (a strict party vote) passed a resolution declaring Jewell and other Republican State officers elected, and adjourned. The Senate will probably pass on the resolutions to-morrow, and Governor Jewell and other officers will qualify as soon as notified of their election.

Shipwreck on Newfoundland Coast.

PORT AU BASQUE, Newfoundland, May 10.—The ship City of Quebec, from London, bound for Quebec, was wrecked off Dead Island on the night of the 8th, and is a total loss. The crew were all drowned.

Trophies of War.

The Prussians aver that while the French lost trophies and standards by the hundreds during the late war, that they themselves have lost but one standard, and they tell the story of its loss as follows:

"This standard belonged to the second battalion of the sixty first Pomeranian regiment. In the battle that took place before Dijon on the 23d of January this standard was originally carried by Sergeant Pionke at the head of his company, which was advancing toward a large factory held by the French. The color sergeant, together with the whole section of men about him, was shot down at once. Second Lieutenant Schultze then took up the colors and carried them forward about twenty paces, when two bullets struck him simultaneously in the head. Adjutant Von Puttkammer, who was already bleeding from a wound in the cheek, then sprang from his horse and rescued the colors, but at the same moment he was struck dead by a shot through the head. The same thing happened to a couple of musketeers who tried to carry the fatal flag. First Lieutenant Weise then took it up, but fell just as the remnant of his company were driven back to the quarries. Owing to the dust and smoke it was not at once noticed that the colors had been left behind. As soon as it was known a detachment of men was sent out to look for them, and never returned, and of a patrol subsequently dispatched only one man came back. The next day news was received from Ricciotti Garibaldi that the flag had been found shot to pieces, soaked in blood and buried under a mound of dead bodies."

A remarkable case is that of Rulofl, a murderer who is sentenced to be hanged at Binghampton, N. Y., on the 18th inst. An Eastern paper says that he devotes all his time to philology. A few days ago he invited several prominent citizens of Binghampton to call and see him in a body, to talk with him about his theory of language. Many went and he informed them that his object was to explain the theory he held and thus leave the matter in such position that the investigations might be continued when he was gone—"for he had only a few days to live." Meanwhile he works with unremitting energy, devoting himself to his pen night and day.

A Lame Indictment.

[From the Alta California.]

In such an important document as an address to the people of the United States by the leaders of a great political party, we ought to have in point of literary finish and statesmanship something beyond the ordinary run of partisan rubbish—something that would afford texts to those journalists who aspire to no higher rank in the world of letters than that of mere whippers in and apologists for the organization to which they belong—something that would dissipate the confusions sure to arise from the multiplicity of leaders and define the principles upon which a campaign is to be fought. It is in no sense of partisanship that we say that those who may have sufficient nerve to brace themselves for the perusal of a document recently issued in the imposing form of an "Address to the people of the United States" by the Democratic Senators and Representatives of Congress intended in some opaque and drivelling way as an arraignment of the Republican party will be forced to the conclusion that in none of the particulars stated does it rise even to mediocrity. It is nothing but a rehash of the most ordinary whangdoodleism, jejune in its composition—flat, stale and certainly most unprofitable as intellectual food for any class of people.

The main charge, so far as it is possible to make out from its misty utterances, which it brings against the Republican party, is its unparalleled audacity in thinking for a moment of renominating and re-electing General Grant to the Presidency. "The President of the United States," it plaintively remarks, "has been formally announced as a candidate for re-election. The declarations of his selfish supporters have been echoed by a subsidized Press, and the discipline of the party has already made adhesion to his personal fortunes the supreme test of fealty." Was ever such revolutionary and discreditable conduct heard of before in this free and enlightened country? Here is a party which is absolutely thinking of running a candidate in opposition to the Democratic party in 1872, absolutely cogitating on that subject and getting its political machinery in readiness for the purpose of carrying out its full determination to retain possession of this Government! What business has this Republican party to be thinking about Presidents when the Democracy stands ready to assume the responsibility of navigating the ship of State for an indefinite length of time? Here is centralization most direful to contemplate, and bold negation of the Virginia and Kentucky resolutions of '98 and charter of our liberties.

The ground is not absolutely taken that the Republican party should not take the field at all in 1872. There seems to be an indirect admission that it may put up a candidate, but mainly in a Pickwickian sense and solely for the purpose of securing a Democratic triumph; but to dream of Grant at all is most ominous for the country and positively revolutionary, for Grant possibly might get elected. As proof of the dangerous tendencies of his Administration the fact is cited that "partisanship is the only test applied to the distribution of the vast patronage of the Government. Not a solitary Democrat has been invited to feed at the public crib." Under the rule of that great man Andrew Johnson the claims of Democrats for office under a Republican administration were heard with attention, but now nobody can get anything but a Republican. We all know that under Democratic rule the only test is as to the honesty and trustworthiness of the applicant. Impartial Democracy, when it has good things to give away, never inquires into the politics of the office seeker. Strange to say, however, it never has been able to find the qualities which it considers necessary in the public servant anywhere but in its own ranks.

The amusing feature of the document is the appeal to be calm. "We call upon them to be true to themselves and to their past, and disregarding party names and minor differences to insist upon a decent equalization of power,"—that is to say, to make arrangements, no matter what may be the result of the [illegible] campaign, that Democrats shall have some of the offices of which they stand so much in need. Further: "We earnestly entreat our fellow citizens in all parts of the Union to spare no effort to maintain peace and order,"—in short, not to think, for a moment, of nailing the poor gentleman's ear to the door. The appeal, we are satisfied, was entirely unnecessary. There is not enough of caloric in this document to set fire to a tinder box; besides, it is the peace Democracy to which it is addressed. We do not believe that the Senators and Representatives who have affixed their signatures to this most washy affair, which mumbles inanely about "centralization," the "sober second thought," and the like, have done themselves any good by that act. They could not have chosen a more unfortunate instrumentality by which to be handed down to posterity.

Massachusetts Repudiates Sumner.

GRANT'S COURSE ON SAN DOMINGO FULLY INDORSED.

NEW YORK, April 19.—The Tribune has a synopsis of the report of the legislative committee of Massachusetts on the resolutions indorsing the recent action of Charles Sumner on the San Domingo question. The report begins with a statement of the general advisability of possessing a station in the West Indies and the particular advantage of Santo Domingo, and then discusses and sets aside the following objections: That an inquiry into the state of the island commits us to the policy of annexation; that sharpers and jockeys have already bought up or leased the land around Samana Bay; the intimation that the President was interested in private speculations; that Santo Domingo is set apart by God for the negroes; that this policy is entering upon a dance of blood; the fear of trouble from Hayti; that annexation would not benefit commerce; that we have territory enough now; the difficulty of governing mixed races; that there is no occasion for hurry. The report closes: "The committee therefore, in closing as in opening their report, have the honor to submit that it was the duty of the Government to avail itself of what it deemed a free offer of Santo Domingo, to come under our dominion, to inquire fully and authentically into the merits of the measure. Every administration since the establishment of the Government would probably have availed itself of a like opportunity, and responded in like spirit. We commend Congress for ordering the commission of inquiry. We commend the fearless and patriotic course of the President in filling the Commission with men of such intelligence and independence of character that their report will [illegible] the eyes of their countrymen [illegible] basis for their action.

"It so happened that our distinguished Senator, Mr. Sumner, differed with the Administration, with his senatorial colleague and the members of Congress from this State, and he sustained his views with all the power, eloquence and tenacity for which he is distinguished.

"The resolutions submitted to the Committee seize on the occasion of this debate to pronounce a legislative encomium upon Mr. Sumner. To the Committee this is a strange sound as the voice of that school of politics they represent. [illegible] asked Legislatures, Congress and conventions or caucuses to pay this statesman compliments. It is hardly worth while to sanction this present attempt of the Senator's political opponents to use the voice of the Legislature in singling out this one act for applause, while his long career of great and eminent services is distinctly under the ban of their recorded denunciation." The Committee commended the adoption of resolutions approving the annexation of San Domingo.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

THE CIVIL WAR IN FRANCE.

The Insurgents Losing Ground.

PARIS, Wednesday night.—A general attack on the city by Versaillists is expected.

There was brisk fighting at Neuilly last night. Versaillists have burned electric lights towards Paris.

Rossel's resignation has been accepted by the Commune. The General himself is placed under arrest. Delescluse has been appointed in his place.

Dombrowski has been offered a command in the army, but refuses to accept unless made supreme.

Gen. [illegible] will probably resign.

Durassier, commander of the insurgent garrison at Fort Vanvres, was wounded to-day. The condition of affairs at Vanvres is exceedingly critical, and we expect to hear of evacuation at any hour.

Forces of the Versailles Government are in Bois de Boulogne in large number.

To-day the Column Vendome was partially destroyed.

Cluseret was under examination to-night, and was removed from Mazas prison this morning.

Another dispatch dated Sevres, Wednesday night, says one thousand yards of trenches have been completed. The assaulting columns are within 300 yards of the ramparts of Paris. All is ready for the order to advance to the assault.

VERSAILLES, Wednesday, 9 P. M.—A great assault upon the fortifications of Paris will be made to-night.

Pont du Jour has been knocked to pieces by the terrible fire from Government batteries at Montertout.

Evening papers all condemn the Commune and Central Committee for thwarting General Rossel in his plans and recommend the conferring of dictatorial powers upon whoever is yet in command of the army.

It is stated that the Versailles forces, after occupying Fort Issy, turned the guns against the ramparts.

LONDON, May 11.—A Times special says Montrouge and Vanvres are silenced. The Nationals under Vangrard refused to march.

VERSAILLES, May 11.—Cannonading continues. The results are described as tremendous. Vanvres still resists. Yesterday the Government troops carried the barricades of Bourgeine, killing and wounding 100 and capturing 13. The Government established batteries at Chateau, Recon, Boulevard Eugenie, Neuilly, and Gennevilliers.

PARIS, May 11.—Rossel was arrested yesterday and placed in custody with M. Girardin. At 5 o'clock both disappeared, and neither have yet been recaptured.

The chief Versaillist attack is expected at Auteuil and Pont du Jour. Both sides are massing. Delescluse is appointed delegate of war.

Official reports deny a Versailles victory.

It is reported that Bismarck relinquishes one milliard, provided France agrees to immunity of private property at sea.

Germany Reduces the War Indemnity.

NEW YORK, May 11.—A special from Berlin last evening says Bismarck has met the requests of the Versailles Government in a liberal spirit. By a treaty of peace just signed he agreed to a reduction of the war indemnity by half a milliard francs, equal to $100,000,000. Consequently the Germans will receive immediately French bonds for four and one-half milliard francs ($900,000,000), payable within one year, and endorsed by French and German bankers. The bonds will be convertible into stocks or consols, whichever Germany may prefer. Two milliard francs ($400,000,000) have been taken by Baron Rothschild and Baron Erlinger, French bankers, and by Herr Hahn, a German banker.

Immediately on the ratification of the treaty of peace, signed at Frankfort, a majority of the German forces were to leave France and return to Germany. The forts east and north of Paris are to be surrendered to the Versaillian Government, and all French prisoners in Germany are to be returned to France. According to the treaty the Germans will hold only Belfort, Longwy and Nancy as hostages until a fulfillment of the conditions.

FRANKFORT, May 11.—Bismarck, Favre and Pouyer have gone home.

Famine in Persia.

LONDON, May 11.—Specials from Bombay report a famine in Persia from lack of rain. Thousands are dying.

EASTERN STATES.

About Cable Telegrams.

NEW YORK, May 11.—A letter is published here this morning from J. W. Simonton, general agent of the Associated Press, to Cyrus W. Field, exposing the practice of the cable management in London of throwing the cable business out of its order as filed and discriminating in its transmissions.

Flood in James River.

RICHMOND, Va., May 11.—Dispatches from Lynchburg say the river is ten feet above its usual level. The river is also rising rapidly here and another flood is apprehended.

Prize Fight Broken Up.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Private advices known to be reliable state that the Mace-Coburn fight was stopped by the Canadian authorities forty-five minutes after the men entered the ring.

Bancroft's Resignation.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Although no positive information can be obtained regarding Bancroft's resignation as Minister to Belgium, the report is not discredited in official circles.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—It has been currently reported along the city front to-day that the steamer Pacific, from Portland and Victoria, had foundered at sea, carrying down all on board. The report, of course, produced the most painful anxiety. No such dispatches have been received from any source, and the report is, so far as can be ascertained, unfounded. [This report evidently grew out of the fact that the Pacific recently grounded near Victoria. No great damage is reported.—ED. OREGONIAN.]

The bark Clara Sutel, hence on a cod fishing voyage to the Northwestern coast, has put into Santa Cruz leaking badly, the pumps being choked with salt and the crew utterly exhausted with efforts to keep her afloat. She encountered the northwester in full force, and has been in distress since Sunday.

The consignees of the ship [illegible] from New York are called up for 15 per cent. general average on account of damage done to her cargo on the voyage.

Stocks were buoyant again this morning and considerable excitement was manifested among the curb stone operators on the street after the Board.

The following table compiled from the last census shows that there are in the United States sixty-seven cities with a population of over 20,000 inhabitants. Washington, which in 1860 stood number fourteen on the list, now stands number twelve—Louisville, Albany and Newark having been outnumbered, while San Francisco has outstripped the four and takes its position tenth on the list. St. Louis and Chicago have passed Baltimore, Boston and New Orleans, and Cincinnati, and stand fourth and fifth on the list, while Baltimore, which stood fourth in 1860, now stands sixth. In the matter of percentage of gain Kansas City, Missouri, is far in the lead, while New Bedford in the North and Savannah in the South are the only cities which show an actual decrease.

The census returns of Chicago, just completed, show the total population of that city to be 298,[illegible], of which [illegible]520 are natives of the United States, and 144,457 are foreigners. The leading foreign nationalities are as follows: Germans, 52,316; Ireland, 36,938; English, 10,026; Norway, 6,374; Canada, 8,619; Bohemia, 6,277; Sweden, 5,154; Scotland, 4,193; Holland, 1,640; Poland, 1,205; Switzerland, 1,225; Denmark, 1,243. The colored population is 3,650.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The act to put down the Ku Klux punishes only the lawless. Why does the Democratic press denounce it? Who can tell? Rather who can not tell?

The debt of the government of New York City on the 25th April was $60,467,364 15. The debt of the county of New York at the same time was $21,[illegible]. Both debts under Democratic management are increasing rapidly, the average rate of increase being $10,000,000 a year. This is a specimen of the financial operations of the party which wants to control the Government of the United States.

In Missouri there are a few political adventurers made crazy by the success of the Schurz-Brown bolt last fall, who talk about a third party for the national campaign [illegible]. The St. Louis Democrat, which [illegible] right to speak for the leaders of the movement which was successful in the fall, [illegible] the proposal in plain and forcible language, asserting that the Gratz Brown [illegible] neither precedent nor warrant for any division of the national Republican party.

The Mobile Register takes Northern Democratic journals to task for undertaking to disapprove of the speech of Jeff Davis at Selma. That paper asserts that such disapproval neither hurts Davis nor helps the Democracy. Northern Democratic journals that are abusing Senator Morton for exposing the Democratic platform of 1872, and that are asserting that no Democrat or Democratic journal endorses any such platform, will find it not so easy to read Davis and the Register out of the Democratic party.

THE TERRITORIES.

An Olympia paper states, on what it considers good authority, that the Northern Pacific Railroad Company advertise for proposals to construct another twenty-five miles between the Columbia river and Puget Sound, intending to complete fifty miles this year.

Mr. C. H. Fricke, of Chicago, now in Olympia, is agent for a colony of over two hundred German families who will [illegible] Washington Territory this year. [illegible] the colonists to come before next autumn. [illegible] number of families will be over one [illegible]

From the Olympia Tribune we see the mail steamer Isabel left Victoria on Friday last, the ocean steamer Pacific was ashore near the harbor. She had sustained no injury and doubtless got safely off on the next high tide. An effort was made by a tugboat on Thursday to haul her off, but without result.

FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 12, 1871.

The Two Democracies.

The engrossing political topic of the ti[illegible] is the controversy between the two wings of the Democratic party about the construction of their next platform and the position the party is to take for the campaign of 1872. The "conservative" or "expediency" wing, led by such journals as the New York World and Boston Post, and by such politicians as John Quincy Adams and Gov. Hofman, scold with earnest vigor the "impracticables," so-called, for the pertinacity with which they insist on making a new raid on the constitutional amendments and the reconstruction acts, and declare that if this embarrassing programme be adopted it will inevitably lead to another overthrow of the party. To this the "impracticables" reply with indignation, that they know of no reason why they should support the Democratic organization, or indeed, why that organization should exist at all, if it is to accept measures of the Republican party as "accomplished facts," which are not to be disturbed. If that is to be the programme, they boldly say that they have no use whatever for the Democratic party. In order fairly to represent the state of this controversy we present extracts from some of the principal journals on both sides. The Boston Post talks in this way:

> Nothing, to speak plainly, works more prejudice to the prospects of the great Democratic party of the country than the repeated but baseless imputation of the Radicals that its advent to power will be the signal for an attempt to rescind the Constitutional Amendments that are claimed as the special fruits of the war. The occasion is so momentous, and the industrial and political interests involved are so many and comprehensive that it has become a matter of necessity for the Dem[illegible] to clear up, by an unequivocal method, every misconception and prejudice that has been [illegible] to accumulate against them by the designing industry of their enemies, aided and strengthened as it may have been by the force of adventitious circumstances; and that method is to announce in plain terms that they unreservedly accept the Amendments, and that they entertain no thought of reopening those issues which, in whatever manner settled, are now to be regarded as settled.

The Post then proceeds to deny (what its party has not denied) that any attempt will be made to overturn the constitutional amendments:

> We assume nothing in declaring that it is no part of the intention, and that it does not enter into the remotest thought, of the Northern Democracy to undertake the abrogation of the later amendments to the Constitution, or any of them. They opposed them while it was constitutionally their right to do so, but there is no disposition to disturb what is now accepted as the will of the people by virtue at least of tacit acquiescence.

We have quoted heretofore from the New York World on this subject, and need not now present anything from the later articles of that paper. Let us now see in what spirit the [illegible] the Post and World are met by the other wing of the party, who declare that the South never will submit to the reconstruction acts, and that in order to gain their support the Democratic candidate must be placed on a platform of avowed hostility to the constitutional amendments. The Augusta (Georgia) Constitutionalist thus sends out its note of defiance, and gives its ideas of the platform:

> If the Southern people can have, as the legitimate result of what those Northern Democrats profess to have fought for, a union of equal States with their sovereign rights as they stood before the war, unimpaired, they will make [illegible] within the party as between peace Democrats and war Democrats. But if they are expected to accept the usurpations of the Republican party, as among the legitimate fruits, the protest will be long and loud, inside and outside of national party conventions.

The [illegible] puts it even stronger:

> These amendments are the plague spot on the face of the great charter of American freedom. This is the fruitful source of our greatest woe, the authority [illegible] for that infamous brood of laws which are intended to enslave the people by destroying the freedom of the ballot and placing the country under martial law at the will of the [illegible], can never be sanctioned by one who stands upon the principles of the Democratic party.

Here is what the Montgomery (Alabama) [illegible] says:

> When the 14th and 15th Amendments have been once subverted the structure of negro supremacy founded upon them must necessarily fall with them. In this belief we are entirely willing that opposition to the 14th and 15th Amendments shall be shaped to whatever policy the wisdom of our leading minds may determine to be the safest and surest for effecting the great end we have first in view.

The Mobile Register gives warning to the Northern Democrats that they will receive the vote of the South only on condition of doing its work:

> We certainly agree with the World that opposition to the 15th Amendment, so far as the South is concerned, would amount to but little if the Democratic party has made up its mind to accept negro suffrage. The known opposition to that heresy on the part of the Northern Democracy was the strongest ligament that bound the South to that organization, and we felt it to be our duty to warn the leaders of that party everywhere [illegible] they will [illegible] by cutting the ligament in twain.

These utterances are not to be misunderstood. Old questions are to be revived. The Southern Democracy have made up their minds to do as they please, as they used to do before the war. And, notwithstanding what the "soft" organs of the party in the Northern States may say, the mass of Northern Democrats are heartily in sympathy with the Southern revolutionists. Who are reviving "[illegible]"? Is it Republicans? Let the tone of the Democratic press of the South, and of such Northern Democratic papers as the organs at Albany and Oregon City in our own State, answer.

A Grand Project.

The Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company now has a controlling interest in the Union Pacific road. Altogether it controls not less than 4,000 miles of track, including a line of railway extending from Philadelphia via Pittsburgh, Chicago, Rock Island and Omaha to Salt Lake City, the Kansas Pacific Railway, a [illegible] from Philadelphia to Erie, another line from Pittsburg to Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis, and a line from Indianapolis to Cairo, is negotiating for the Cairo and Fulton Road, is building a road from Fort Wayne to Grand Rapids, Michigan, and has recently leased the Camden and Amboy, and all the other roads in Northern New Jersey. This is the most powerful corporation in existence, and it designs to push its conquests even further. Its plan contemplates nothing less than the control of a through line from the Atlantic to the Pacific, with all necessary branches, feeders and connections. In pursuance of this plan it is stated that the President of the Company, Thomas A. Scott of Philadelphia, will shortly come to the Pacific coast, the precise object of his visit being to make arrangements for the extension of the Union Pacific and Kansas Pacific to California. It is in contemplation to build the road via [illegible] and connect it at Marysville with the California Pacific. The Marysville Appeal has this information on authority which it considered good, and expresses great satisfaction at the prospect that the project will be executed.

A New Era for Railways.

The New York Tribune recently contained a [illegible] article on [illegible] railways, illustrating their practicability and advantages. The article furnished a large number of interesting statistics proving the adaptability of the narrow gauge system to the requirements of vast regions of our country which are now destitute of railway facilities. It is maintained by the writer in the Tribune that this system will yet produce a revolution in railroads, and that narrow gauge roads will eventually to a great extent supersede the wide. In a subsequent issue the Tribune speaks editorially of the article, thus:

The "revolution" which it advocated has for some time been the nightmare of the dream, as the case might be, of capitalists, engineers, and contractors. But the question of the development of the vast regions of country through which the rattle of cars and the whistle of engines are as yet unheard is much more important than the question of profits to corporations or individuals. This development may be consummated, long before the early settlers could have anticipated, by the newly understood railway system known as the narrow-guage. On this system lines of railway can be constructed all over the country at almost half the cost of the old guage; and none know so well as railroad men how easy it is to raise $1,000,000 where the raising of $2,000,000 would be impossible. But the decreased cost of construction is not the only advantage of the narrow-guage system. The decrease in the cost of operation is proportionate, and affects the pockets of the stockholders and travelers alike.

From an article in the New York Evening Mail, on the same subject, we copy this:

The old notion of the superiority of a six foot guage has long since been exploded. Even at the same expense of construction the narrow guages adopted on most of our roads are found to answer far better. There is loss wear and tear of rolling stock in rounding the curves, and the motion of the cars is less disagreeably felt by the passengers. In some parts of Europe, however, the process of narrowing guages has gone on until there are now roads in successful operation whose guage is but thirty inches. The saving in the expense of construction and of running is immense. On these narrow guaged tracks cars can be brought easily and safely around curves that would be otherwise utterly impracticable. They can wind around valleys that no engineer would pronounce available for the old style of roads. The saving in the cuttings and embankments, in tunnels and bridges, in ties and road beds is immense. This new style of roadway promises to supplant our present railway system in a most remarkable manner. These narrow guage roads can be used as feeders for the existing thoroughfares, running along the valleys that are now only crossed by some main line of broad guage road, ascending the high grades of mountain districts that are now inaccessible by the iron horse, and penetrating mining regions that would otherwise remain half developed.

It is shrewdly remarked that there is never a revolution in Europe without a participant Pole, the exiled Pole being a born General in the estimation of most radicals. It was the veteran rebel Mieroslawski who led the German insurrectionists in 1848. The Italians who were crushed at Novara were led, not by one of their own race, but a Polish adventurer of neither ability nor reputation. Another unknown Pole, Dombrowski, has been the leader of the Parisian insurgents; and we are now told that, being disabled by wounds, he has been succeeded by still another Polish General called Okolowitz. It is a curious fact that these wandering Polish soldiers rarely show any military ability, not one of those whom we have named, with the possible exception of Dombrowski, having displayed any higher quality in the field than that of personal bravery. And yet the average European insurrectionist will march cheerfully to battle if his leader is only a mysterious Polish person with an utterly unpronounceable name.

It is very clear that M. Thiers aims to put down the insurrection without the aid of the late "invaders." He does not wish it to be said in the future that his Administration was saved, only through the assistance of German bayonets. He does not propose to afford the rebellious Parisians an opportunity of boasting that they would have triumphed over the Government if the latter had not called in the "enemies of France" to back them. He has no idea of having it recorded in history that he was propped up, like Louis XVIIIth, with foreign bayonets. M. Thiers and his colleagues further realize that the final government, which they may be instrumental in bringing about, will have more prestige and more power, from their having put down the Paris revolt, unaided. This explains why it is that the German troops loft around Paris, until the conditions of the treaty of peace are complied with, do not take a hand in the fray.

The Herald in its editorial columns evinces a remarkably intimate acquaintance with the names and residences of the bawds of the city. It would seem that the resolution adopted by the Common Council on Wednesday evening, instructing the Chief of Police to summon the Herald people as witnesses in the matter, was the result of a happy thought that it would be well to look for information where that article is to be obtained. The Herald next morning contained articles which showed that the Common Council in seeking information as to the whereabouts of the stews and the names of the inmates, had applied in the right quarter.

Full evidence of the fraud practised by the Democrats in Connecticut, has been brought to light and Jewell has been declared by the Assembly to have been legally elected Governor. There was an atrocious attempt to swindle the people of Connecticut out of their choice for Governor and to put English in by the use of Tammany tactics. Fraud has received a rebuke, and the effect should be a wholesome one.

The Statesman says there are two stores and two dwellings at Brook's station, and a new blacksmith shop is to be erected. A dozen new buildings will be put up at that place this summer.

From the Statesman: The contemplated excursion to Portland of the teachers and scholars of the University and other schools of the city, is postponed until Friday, May 19th. Full particulars will be given when all the arrangements are made.

Mr. Clarence King, who came out from the East last year and visited several of our snow peaks, of which he has given an account in Eastern publications, will come again this summer to pursue further investigations with reference to their evidences of glacial character.

Citizens of Oregon are forced to advertise in "litigant organs," at swindling rates. From time to time proclamations are issued by the Governor, designating certain papers as litigant organs, and the people are forced to pay for the printing of these proclamations at the same swindling rates. 'Tis a beautiful specimen of Democratic legislation.

As an evidence of the tendency of the German nation to Republicanism, it is said that King William abandoned the imposing ceremonies of a formal coronation, through the entreaties of the Crown Prince, who thought it would have a bad effect on the minds of the numerous German Republicans.

San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—The $500 running race at the Pacific course, Alameda, to-day was one of the finest of the season. The horses entered were Pill-Box, Brown Dick, Al Bascom, Eva Bascom, Gunner and Idaho. The race was won in two straight heats by Pill Box. Time—1:48 and 1:49½.

The sugar refineries to day added one-half cent per pound to prices of all grades of full white sugars, including crushed, cube, powdered and granulated.

The Alvarado Beet and Sugar Factory is in full operation refining cane sugars, a full cargo having been sent over to the city for sale yesterday.

Seven hundred chests, or thirty five tons, of strawberries arrived here this morning from Santa Clara county, from whence the entire supply is now received. The strawberry growers cannot get boxes fast enough to ship the berries ripening on their hands. Last year the crop which until then had been cultivated almost exclusively in Alameda county, was a very short one, and the enormous increase in the supply from Santa Clara is a matter of much surprise to everybody.

The Germans and Irish are really moving in earnest to bring about separate conventions for the selection of political tickets each being determined to secure the largest possible representation in the respective party tickets. It is probable that both conventions will meet.

COLUSA, May 11.—A fire broke out in Chinatown about 9 o'clock this evening, completely destroying five or six Chinese wash-houses, together with most of the clothes on hand. Loss estimated at $3,000; no insurance.

Desperate Affray with Outlaws.

GILROY, May 11.—A desperate fight occurred in the mountains about 25 miles from this place, yesterday, between a band of desperadoes and Sheriff Morse of Contra Costa county and Sheriff Harris of this county. During the fight, Juan Soto, one of the men who murdered the three Frenchmen in Sunol Valley about a year since, was shot and killed by Morse. Soto fired five shots at Morse, none of which took effect. The officers also captured a Spaniard who is wanted in Santa Cruz to answer to a charge of murder. The others succeeded in effecting their escape.

A Washington dispatch of April 29th gives this: A novel case of the appointment of a Territorial judicial officer has just come to light. A short time since the President received what purported to be the resignation of a United States Judge of Idaho. It contained some abusive comments, which hastened its prompt acceptance and the nomination and confirmation of his successor. It appears, however, by the arrival of the deposed officer here, that the first news of the change was the appearance of his successor in Idaho. The former thereupon went to Washington and called upon the President, and asked the reason of the change. He was shown in reply, his alleged letter of resignation, which he pronounced a forgery, and is unable to divine who sent it.

CITY.

A GREAT PUBLIC WANT.—Just at present, one of the great needs of this city is an increase of accommodations The hotels have been large enough for all ordinary requirements, heretofore, but it has been many years since there was such an influx of people into the city as now [illegible] were constructed and fitted up with a view to accommodate the boarders of the city and travelers of the State, as they were before the immigration commenced. It was said less than a month ago that the public houses were running over full, and there has been no time since when the same fact was not apparent It is not by any means an easy matter nor has it been for a month, to get comfortable quarters at any of the hotels, so crammed are they and we are assured that two, three or four hundred [illegible] people apply in a day or two, as is not uncommon, the matter of getting even an [illegible] accommodations becomes a serious one—[illegible] to the applicants Let any one visit the leading hotels and note the crowds that throng their reception rooms a wonder where all these men are lodged will be the first thing to arise in the mind. It is the same at all the hotels, from [illegible] clear down to the lowest class There is no trouble about getting board—that can be had at the hotels or restaurants Sleeping accommodations are the puzzle. It strikes us that there is an excellent opening for some one to open a first-class lodging house—furnishing only [illegible] and good, clean bedding According to reports received from many quarters, the immigration has only just commenced [illegible] to continue through the entire summer [illegible] whoever answers the present demand for lodgings will reap a rich harvest

[illegible] FROM CANADA.—Among the most indefatigable writers of letters about Oregon, Mr Phelps of this city must certainly take front rank. Within the last year his letters to various parts of the Eastern and Middle States England and [illegible] could only be numbered by scores and at the same time he has forwarded to the [illegible] destinations a cart load or so of [illegible] or works of information, and [illegible] all the way from Victoria to Oregon This has been done at his own private expense, and as a [illegible] to this country We have heretofore made mention of the arrival of various [illegible] who were induced through his [illegible] to come to Oregon We now have [illegible] of announcing that a party of five [illegible] district, Canada, arrived by the [illegible] as the result of Mr Phelps' correspondence, and they bring information that in a [illegible] another party of several families may [illegible] from the same locality Mr Phelps [illegible] well of the public for his efforts in this [illegible]

[illegible]—Councilman Hallock's resolution of [illegible] evening, suggested that as the Herald [illegible] and proprietors spoke so confidently about the existence of Chinese brothels, they [illegible] knew something about such houses. This was a hard lick at the Herald folks, and we look [illegible] yesterday morning with some interest to see what those gentlemen would have to say On one [illegible] we found it suggested that a certain Coun[illegible] would be a good witness in a prosecution against any or all the bawdy houses. On another [illegible] we found it suggested that "some of our city officials" visit the places of "Sprained [illegible] Maggie and other beauties." Now, the [illegible] suggests itself to our mind how should the [illegible] editor know anything about "Sprained [illegible] Maggie?" Dare we suggest that the [illegible] is handled very familiarly

[illegible] AN ENCOURAGING EXAMPLE.—A fear is [illegible] by some that when one of the School [illegible] visits the public schools and addresses [illegible] fellows there assembled on the propriety [illegible] straightforward in their actions, they [illegible] not be much encouraged by his example [illegible] however profit by remembering that [illegible] example is to be avoided, but the young [illegible] has discrimination enough to separate [illegible] act from the agent This is a sort of [illegible] which the young mind is not always [illegible] Hence the danger of bad example [illegible] at all times.

J H. Bacon et al, vs Benj Stark—In Equity [illegible] it begun on exceptions to complaint, [illegible] for exceptions, Chapman, contra

The court adjourned till 10 A M, to morrow.

THE PERSONNEL OF THE PIXLEY TROUPE.—Miss Annie Pixley, though very young for such [illegible], has undertaken the management of [illegible] dramatic and variety troupe She, with her sister Minnie Miss Lizzie Ingles and [illegible] Ed Campbell, left for the Dalles yesterday [illegible] intending to play at that place this evening Dick Clinton will probably join them to-day at the Dalles and become one of the troupe. We hope the plucky young lady will have luck [illegible] her courage and enterprise

A BAD SPELL.—We have just been having an [illegible] spell—not orthographically, but barometrically, thermometrically, in short, climatically It has been cold and wet, almost as January [illegible] everybody has taken cold and all the rest have [illegible] the rheumatism—more of it than all the Oak-Weed in the State can weed out within a [illegible] time. We are proud to say, however, that such execrable weather is not common to this latitude in May whatever may be said of [illegible] and March

THE REMAINS OF HUGH N GEORGE.—The body of Hugh N George, who died at the Dalles on Monday, was brought down to this city yesterday by the steamer It was received by a delegation of Odd Fellows, who took charge of it and will forward it to Albany to-day, for burial The death of our brother George falls sadly, indeed, upon the hearts of the fraternity of which he was [illegible] valued member

CONCERT POSTPONED.—On account of the Sabbath School Convention, whose sessions will extend to Saturday evening, the Musical Institute concert, announced for Saturday evening, has been postponed till Tuesday evening, the 16th Several new singers will appear in the exercises and the programme will be entirely changed from that of the last concert

CASE OF THE SOLDIER BIRD.—Before Judge Deady in the matter of Wm. E. Bird, petition for habeas corpus the hearing set for yesterday was postponed till next Monday at 10 o'clock A M. It was ordered that copies of petition, writ, &c., be served within one day on the Commanding General of the Department of the Columbia

LECTURE.—By request Rev Dr Lindsley will some evening next week deliver a lecture in this city for the benefit of the "Wallamet Society," a literary organization of recent date. It is not yet decided when the lecture will be delivered [illegible] the evening and the subject will be announced in due time

[illegible] SOME FRIENDS.—We are informed that Mr. Bills, who is expected home by the next steamer, is accompanied by several people from Indiana who through his advice are coming out to pitch their tents in Oregon

PICNIC POSTPONED.—The picnic of the Unitarian Society has been postponed on account, as we [illegible] the bad weather Notice will be given through the daily papers as to when it will take place.

BRIDGE SURVEY.—The O & C Railroad Co has sent a corps of surveyors to Harrisburg to examine the river and select the best location for the [illegible] railroad bridge across the Wallamet river

HOUR OF SAILING.—The Oriflamme for San Francisco, will sail at 4 o'clock to morrow afternoon. The opposition steamer, Constantine, will sail at 5 o'clock to morrow afternoon

THE SABBATH SCHOOL CONVENTION

THE OPENING SESSION AT THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH—AN IMMENSE AUDIENCE—ADDRESSES—SINGING BY PHILLIP PHILLIPS

The State Sabbath School Convention composed of delegations of teachers and pupils of quite a number of the schools of the State, opened last evening very auspiciously, the attendance being as large as the capacity of the church The announcement that Rev Dr Vincent of New York, and Phillip Phillips, "the sweet singer," would be present, doubtless contributed very materially toward attracting the people to the Convention, though the programme had been so arranged as to be not without other attractions

We did not have the fortune to be present at the opening of the Convention but we learn that Mr J F Caples Superintendent of the Taylor street M E Sunday School, made some introductory remarks of welcome and was followed by a short address by Rev P S Knight, Pastor of the Congregational Church of Salem The audience then, under the lead of Philip Phillips, sang with fine spirit the sacred song beginning with "Blest be the tie that binds"

REV DR VINCENT OF NEW YORK

one of the great Sabbath School advocates of America, was introduced by Rev Dr Atkinson Dr Vincent delivered a short but very interesting talk rather than lecture or sermon, upon Sabbath schools He is a man apparently still young has a full, round well modulated voice which has a singular blending of power, fire and tenderness in it In style he is naturally dramatic or, perhaps it would be better to say dramatically natural He talks fluently, but with never an apparent effort at effect, choosing only simple words and sometimes homely but always happy illustrations. We should take him to be a capital hand at an anecdote, and we know that he has that personal magnetism without which no man was ever a great preacher or orator He uses as if by intuition just the right pitch and volume of voice, emphasis and inflection and quality of tone to give his words their greatest power. He is evidently a man to move an audience very much as he may choose to do it We do not propose to give here any report of what he said—without his voice and gesture and quiet dramaticisms, it would not read near so well as it sounded while he talked. But we sincerely think no man has for a long time visited our city so capable of interesting and fascinating his hearers, and everybody, Christian or sinner, should make it a point to hear him After the close of Mr Vincent's address, who has been appropriately styled "the sweet singer," played and sang a solo, "Scatter the seeds of kindness," the sentiment and the song being a fitting supplement to the address. Dr. Atkinson announced the programme for to day, and the audience was then dismissed with a benediction.

COMPLIMENTARY RESOLUTIONS.

STEAMSHIP CONSTANTINE
Columbia River, May 9, 1871

At a meeting of the passengers convened this day on board this steamer, it was

Resolved, That in completing our voyage from San Francisco, we deem it but just and proper to express our high appreciation of this splendid steamship her Captain and officers

Resolved, That for strength safety and general accommodation, we recommend this steamship to the traveling public, and congratulate the people of the Northern coast on her advent among them

Resolved, That to her worthy commander Captain Thorne to his able assistants and to her courteous and obliging purser Mr Stark we are indebted for every kindness and attention

Resolved, That the Steward's department was supplied with every delicacy and luxury possible to procure and would compare with the leading hotels of San Francisco in the magnificent table spread for us

Resolved That the proceedings of this meeting be published Signed

Digging their Own Graves

Under this caption the New York Evening Post, which has of late been widely quoted by Democratic journals, draws a graphic picture of the Democratic party

What is the use of the Democratic politicians thinking of the next Presidential election? Do they imagine that the American people will put into power a party which has been an unmitigated nuisance a breeder of disorder a corrupter of public virtue, the debaucher of politics, the friend of every wrong and oppression, the fomenter of violence and rebellion, for more than a dozen years—do they believe that the people will put such a party in power, unless it first shows by unmistakable evidence, that it has a firmer purpose than Falstaff had, to "purge and live cleanly?"

The Democratic party supported slavery—and was beaten It countenanced rebellion—and was beaten It set up a peace at any price platform—and was beaten It advocated repudiation—and was beaten It opposed equal laws and general suffrage—and was beaten. And now it is marching on to the next Presidential election at the head of [illegible] bands of Ku Klux, Northern and Southern—gangs who set both law and decency at defiance; who rob where they do not kill who cheat where they cannot rob, men whose acts threaten the whole land with anarchy, and they have amongst them scarcely a single leader with brains or conscience enough to rebuke violence and lawlessness, or condemn public plunder.

Those Democratic leaders who hope to carry the next Presidential election, and imagine themselves fit to rule the country, do not comprehend the duty of a minority [illegible] seem to be mere partisans, not politicians in any higher sense than that in which a [illegible] might call himself a defender of his country It is the duty of a minority which [illegible] to become the majority, to show an example of obedience to the laws, and respect [illegible] rights of others, to make manifest, [illegible] it has the opportunity, that it possesses statesmanlike ideas, that it comprehends principles of free government, that knows how to rule, and how to keep in subordination its [illegible].

This country is now threatened with unconstitutional and dangerous legislation, this is the fault of the Democratic leaders If they chose they could in two weeks restore order all over the South If they chose, they could put their party in all the States, into decent hands If they chose they could put a stop to unprincipled and scandalous legislation at Albany, where, with the Democrats in power in every department of the State Government and in both branches of the legislature, the whole session has passed without a single abuse reformed, without a single wholesome or necessary law enacted, without a single bad law repealed, with not even a pretense of regard for the welfare of the people of the State or city

The Republican leaders, who have courage and shrewdness, trade largely upon the folly of the Democrats. We do not think them [illegible] in this but it must be admitted that the temptation is great The Democratic [illegible] corruption, lawlessness and incapacity seem to be constant quantities; they may be safely made an element in every political calculation, and thus the country is [illegible] to suffer, not only directly, but, indirectly and secondarily, by the bad course [illegible] Democrats The Republicans neglect [illegible] and necessary legislation because the Democratic folly makes their victory too certain NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.—SWEDISH IMMIGRANTS. The Oswego Advertiser, of the 21st ult says: Much interest was excited in our [illegible] by the arrival of about two hundred and fifty Swedes all men, who came [illegible] Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad from New York [illegible] they had just arrived [illegible] on the steamship City of [illegible] embarked here on the [illegible] the Northern Transportation [illegible] trip up the lakes to their [illegible] learn that these men came in charge of [illegible] Christiansen, an [illegible] in the Swedish royal service, who has been granted [illegible] absence by the King for [illegible] years to visit this country They were a hearty and also intelligent [illegible] body of [illegible] we doubt not will make for themselves [illegible] the new country which [illegible] develop. It is expected that [illegible] the advance guard of the thousands [illegible] from the northern countries of [illegible] the construction of the great Northern Pacific Railroad and settle the land of the company. Who knows [illegible] among the men who slept in the [illegible] of the Northern Transportation Company last night, one may be the future [illegible] of one of the great states to grow up in the Northwest.

About half of the party embarked last evening [illegible] N T steamer Nashua, and the remainder followed this morning by the steamer [illegible] Concord. Their destination is Milwaukee and from that point they proceed by rail to the localities to which they are assigned for labor on the line of the Northern Pacific The party that remained in the city last night were comfortably quartered in the warehouse of the Northern Transportation Company Many of them took a survey of the city and appeared greatly interested in [illegible] the new City Hall and other public buildings

THE PRUSSIAN LOSSES —The fact is generally accepted that while the war lasted the Prussian authorities studiously refrained from publishing their list of losses, but now that the war is over, the truth upon this subject is beginning to come out. These losses were terrible In the Prussian Guard most of the regiments lost more than a third of their men and the greater number of these fell in the single day's fighting at St Privat The [illegible] Corps was also terribly punished in the battles of Spicheren and Mars-la-Tour In these two fights the Forty-eighth Regiment lost all but 3 out of 64 officers, and out of about 2,800 men, 1,497 were killed and wounded At Orleans, the Forty-Second Regiment lost 58 officers, 4 ensigns and 1,431 men, out of 2,500 who were present for duty At Le Mans the Thirty fifth Regiment lost 16 officers, 2 ensigns and 1,207 [illegible] In the whole Prussian Guard and [illegible] Corps there is not a regiment that has lost less than 40 officers and 1,000 [illegible] While the casualties in the cavalry were much smaller, the First Dragoons of the [illegible] lost more than half its officers and [illegible] its men. Probably the fighting in this war has been more destructive than in any former war in Europe, though less so than in some of the battles of the rebellion [illegible] country, for instance, at Gettysburg and Cold Harbor.

Bank rates of interest on 30, 60 and 90 day loans, 1 per cent., outside rates range from 10 to 18 per cent per annum

There is nothing new to note in business circles. Trade continues good in all lines, while there is an evident increase in a few A spirit of activity is manifest everywhere and the city and the whole country seem to have awakened to new life The effects of the internal improvements already made or under way or projected in the State are beginning to be plainly visible in the impetus given to immigration, and the renewed hope and life which seem to be infused into every branch of trade and industry We noted yesterday morning the gains in population during the week, and the estimated accessions of people per month That estimate we have reason to believe is below the actual number of arrivals rather than in excess of them In this connection we are glad to be able to state that very nearly all the immigrants arriving have come to make Oregon their home and that so far as they have seen the country, they are entirely satisfied with it Those who came early have visited the interior and many have already purchased lands

AGRICULTURAL Goods are beginning to move off finely to Eastern Oregon and all distant localities where the purchasers have to look out betimes for their supplies We note shipments of harvesting machines to Walla Walla, Lewiston, British Columbia and other interior sections

DRY GOODS—Trade in this line is fairly active, the demand for summer and fancy goods having set in Quotations without change.

HARDWARE—This line has been doing a good business the entire season, and there is not yet any apparent falling off in the volume of orders

PRODUCE—The buying price of wheat has been advanced to $1 [illegible] for good white shipping grades, and $1 30 for red Oats are also materially advanced The jobbing price of extra brands of flour is $8 Feed has gone up to very strong figures and the supply is limited

PROVISIONS—Beans have advanced nearly fifty per cent Butter is lower Other quotations unchanged Not much doing in hams or bacon

The San Francisco Commercial Herald of the 5th states the receipts of certain articles of Oregon produce from January to date as follows Flour qr sks, 206 030, wheat, sks, 24 528 oats, sks 583, salmon, bbls 1,538 hf bbls, 625 pkgs, 1 126, bacon, pkgs 597, beef, bbls, 101, hams, pkgs 114 butter pkgs, 112, lard pkgs, 313 pork, bbls, 1 156 dried apples pkgs, 722, ripe do bxs 27,397
